EMPLOYEE CATEGORY STATUS

MOSH requires that all employees be categorized for exposure to blood borne pathogens. Below are the three (3) categories that have been determined as appropriate by MOSH. Your category status has been determined to be:

Category: _____

- Category 1: The employee performs tasks that involve routine exposure to blood and body fluids.
- Category 2: The employee does not usually perform tasks that involve routine exposure to blood or body fluids. However, the employee may occasionally be called upon to perform these tasks. Example: Someone who spends most of their time at the front desk, but may on occasion take X-Rays or clean up an operatory after a patient has been dismissed.
- Category 3: The employee never performs tasks that involve inherent routine exposures to blood or body fluids.

_____ Yes, I agree with this Category Status _____
